
Full y-axis shown to preserve context. Error bars show ±1 standard deviation across five overlapping test splits. Missingness is simulated independently at the individual-measurement level.